POST 18 OPTIONS

2021-2022 (summary)

Introduction

What your child chooses to do after sixth form (or college) is exciting but can be nerve-racking. There are lots of options available and understanding the pros and cons between different choices can be confusing.

It's not just about deciding whether to go to work or continue further education – although that's a good starting point. Important considerations include how long they want to continue studying, how they will finance living expenses and course fees (and whether you can afford to help them), whether they want to study in a more academic environment or in a more practical environment (such as studying whilst working).

Many qualifications can be built upon, so they may commit to one year of further study and then decide to increase it for another year or two to get a higher qualification. This flexibility can be very useful, particularly for students who are not keen to commit to long-term studies after school, but find they enjoy it once they've got started. In the case of degrees, they will need to commit to the length of study (minimum three years) from the beginning.

This guide is designed to outline post-18 options and give a brief introduction to what's involved. If you want to delve deeper and find out more, we've included useful links to other reliable sources' and The Parents' Guide to has specialist guides for studying at university or taking apprenticeships. Levels of Education

In England, Wales and Northern Ireland there are eight qualification levels (1 - 8) plus an entry level qualification for those just starting. Generally, the higher the level, the more difficult the qualification is. Levels 1-3 are typically taught in schools and colleges.

With so many different qualifications, it can be hard to know what they mean and where they might lead to next. To help you understand, we've created a summary of what the qualifications and levels mean highlighting academic, vocational and work-based routes to higher education.

University Degree

Qualification type

Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science

Length of commitment

3-4 Years

Some degrees, such as medicine are longer

Tuition Costs

Students take out a “tuition fee loan” to pay course costs. No repayments are made until the student is earning £25k in the April after graduation and then only as a percentage of earnings above £25k. Payments are paused if salary drops below £25k. Any outstanding debt is wiped clear after 30 years.

Accommodation Costs and living expenses

Students may receive a “maintenance loan” dependent on parents’ income; however, this is rarely sufficient to cover all costs and students will either need to supplement by working or have help from their parents (or both!). Accommodation costs will vary depending on where the student is living – large cities are more expensive.

Alternatives

Degree apprenticeship, Foundation Year

Degree Apprenticeships

Qualification type

Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science

Length of commitment

3-4 Years

(Some can be longer, even up to 7 years)

Tuition Costs

Course costs (at university) are paid by the company and government.

Accommodation Costs and living expenses

A salary is paid, but parents may need to subsidise living expenses, especially if relocating to an expensive area.

Non-degree apprenticeships

Qualification type

Advanced or Higher apprenticeship

Length of commitment

6 Months – 3 Years

Tuition Costs

Course costs (usually at college or by an education provider) are paid by the company and government.

Accommodation Costs and living expenses

A salary is paid, and shorter apprenticeships may be local so students can continue living at home, but parents may need to subsidise living expenses, especially if relocating to an expensive area for longer apprenticeships.

The Parents' Guide to Standing out

Applying for jobs and university is incredibly competitive, often with hundreds of applicants for just a few places. So how can your child stand out from others? By demonstrating interests outside their academic studies.

In The Parents' Guide to Standing out from the crowd, we explore different things your child can do to expand their interests and find out more about subjects they might like to study in future. This includes taking up healthy habits, improving their skillset and harnessing their personal strengths.

Put them onto the path to success:

- ✓ Self-development and increasing confidence through reading, audiobooks and podcasts
- ✓ Getting work experience (including virtual placements)
- ✓ Benefits of research and how to take a different approach
- ✓ How different hobbies impact mental and physical health – and what transferable skills they develop with dedicated sections on music and sports
- ✓ Recommendations for non-curricular online courses
- ✓ Benefits of competitions

Reading
 Reading is a brilliant opportunity for your child to find out more about their curriculum subjects, favourite areas of interest, idols, topics they enjoy that are not covered at school and pretty much anything else on the planet – including fiction. If your child isn't a great reader, no matter – they can listen to audio books instead.

Read outside set texts
 With young adults of a similar age group, there's a tendency for the curriculum literature to be quoted over and over in applications and interviews, often covering very similar themes.

Are they a people person?
 Get your child to stand out by being able to quote something outside their set texts. But here's the important thing: they must be able to discuss it and say how it has had an impact on them. There's little point in mentioning they have read something if they have nothing to say about it. Your child is looking to demonstrate that they can read something, digest it, summarize it, establish an opinion and express themselves. These are all transferable skills that are vital in the workplace and very useful in further study. It doesn't matter whether your child concludes that they liked the book or not – it's how they say it that matters.

Self development
 There are plenty of books written for teens with guidance and tips on how they can prepare for life ahead, specifically from a long-term perspective. All manner of things will help them to think for themselves and develop their own potential.

Current affairs
 It's a good idea for your child to be able to demonstrate some general knowledge. They should keep an eye on the news to be aware of headline stories.

Skills that matter:

- ✓ Curiosity – Identifying with wider issues rather than just those within their personal experience
- ✓ Empathy – caring what's happening to others as well as themselves
- ✓ Inquisitive – Broadening their knowledge
- ✓ Passion – exploring issues that move them
- ✓ Relating – Understanding issues outside their own experience

Gap Year

Qualification type

Traditionally, this is a year spent travelling overseas, but it needn't focus exclusively on that. Volunteering and work experience can also be incorporated. This is particularly relevant if Covid continues to restrict travel through 2021/2022. A gap year can be taken while entry to university is being deferred (allowing a year between leaving school and starting university) or if university is not the next step at all.

Length of commitment

1 year

Tuition Costs

There are no tuition costs unless retaking sixth form examinations.

Accommodation Costs and living expenses

Gap years need not be expensive. Flights and accommodation are usually covered for overseas volunteering. Personal travel can be funded by working for part of the year.

A GAP YEAR CAN BE SELF FUNDED BY WORKING PART OF THE YEAR

Start a business

Qualification type

None, but it's important to have drive, commitment and an idea of what business idea to pursue.

Length of commitment

n/a

Tuition Costs

It may be useful to take some courses to hone skills when setting up a business. The Prince's Trust, Local Enterprise Partnership, and New Enterprise Allowance offer grants and mentoring.

Accommodation Costs and living expenses

Lots of young people start their businesses online, which means minimal start up costs and they can continue living at home.

Alternatives

Start the business whilst working or in education
