What are we going to cover today?

1. What is Labour Market Information? (LMI)
2. Why do I need to know about Labour Market Information? (LMI)
3. Where can I find Labour Market Information (LMI)?
4. How can I use Labour Market Information (LMI)?

1. What is Labour market information?

Labour Market Information (LMI) provides statistics, research and analysis about current and future economic and job trends so that business and YOU can plan for the future

- Identifying main employers
- Understanding the mix of people who make up the labour supply
- Understanding what qualifications and skills are required
- Awareness of job shortages
- Remaining up to date with economic changes and political influences
- Sectors that are growing and declining
- The location of the jobs

2. Why do I need to know about Labour Market Information?

- LMI provides you with the knowledge to make informed choices and good decisions which will help you as you think about GCSE Option Choices and research career ideas
- You need to know where the jobs are: the sectors, occupations and localities where job opportunities are on the increase
- We live in a changing world of employment. LMI can help you identify the skills, training and learning you will require in the future
- LMI helps to predict the jobs that are vulnerable and likely to disappear
- You need to be aware of how easy or hard it will be to get into your chosen career/s.
- LMI helps you to have realistic aspirations as it sets out what is actually happening in the job market
